ROSTER
OF
CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS
IN THE
WAR BETWEEN THE STATES

FURNISHED BY
Lincoln County, North Carolina

1861-1865

Published by order of W. J. Hoke Camp, Confed. Veterans.

JOURNAL PRINT, 1905.
LINCOLNTON, N. C.

TO W. J. HOKE CAMP, CONFEDERATE VETERANS:

By resolution of your annual meeting, 18th July, 1902, the undersigned were appointed a committee to prepare a Roster of all the soldiers furnished the Confederacy by Lincoln county.

On account of the lapse of time, lost and imperfect rolls, and the long list of names, your committee found this no small undertaking, but spared no effort to complete the record, and preserve the name of every Lincoln County soldier who wore the gray in defense of the Lost Cause.

Our first effort was the publication of the names on the State Roster, through the columns of The Lincoln Journal, to acquaint the public with the material in hand, and invite additions and corrections. For this courtesy your committee expresses its obligation to The Journal publishers.

The duty imposed has been a labor of love, cheerfully performed, our only regret its imperfections, and that names we could not discover, and not reported to us, may be omitted from this Honor Roll.

The completed roster was turned over by your committee to the Southern Stars Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy for publication and distribution. This Chapter has done much for the comfort and pleasure of the survivors, and for the preservation of the history of the heroic struggle of '61 to '65, and to it your committee, the veterans of Lincoln County, and posterity are under lasting obligations for the appearance of the Roster in its present form.

NOTE.—The foregoing names have been furnished by survivors. The Junior Reserves were called out by Act of Congress of 17th February, 1864, and included those between the ages of seventeen and eighteen years. They were organized at Camp Holmes, 31st May, 1864. This company, J. Q. Holland, Captain, formed a part of the Second Battalion, Junior Reserves. A part of the fall was spent at Weldon. In October they were sent to Tarboro, then to Plymouth. December 8th, they were of the forces sent to Belfield, Va., to meet the advance of Warren's Corps. Here they were under fire the first time, and followed the enemy several miles on his retreat. In January the Regiment was sent to Coleraine on the Clowan, thence to Goldsboro and Kinston. March the 8th, it participated in the engagement at South West Creek. At Smithfield it was united with the western army under Gen. Joseph E. Johnston. On March the 19th the Reserves were in the fight of Bentonville. They were on the left of Hoke's Division, and received high praise from Gen. Hoke and others. They ceased to be soldiers with the surrender of General Johnston 26th of April, 1865.

NOTE —The Senior Reserves were composed of men between 45 and 50 years of age; we have no data from which to complete their roll or services; the foregoing names have been furnished by survivors, one of whom gives this account: "The company was organized as Home Guards or Home Reserves for the defense of the State. Our enlistment was in the fall of '64. Organized in Lincoln, ordered to Goldsboro. Boarded the train at Iron Station, October 18th, 1864, arrived in Goldsboro the 20th. Organized into a regiment. Ordered to Kinston. Stayed there sometime. Yankees made raid up Neuse River. Engagement ensued. Yankees repulsed by our forces and went back to Newbern. Disbanded and returned home. Reorganized in '65."

Many of the Lincoln Seniors were in the company of Captain John F. Hill. Their principal duty was guarding the thousands of prisoner confined at Salisbury, thus relieving other troops for the field. The regiment was ordered to Raleigh, August 21, for service at Wilmington, but was stopped at Greensboro, and soon returned to Salisbury. They also arrested deserters, with whom, on some occasions, they had fights. They were also in contact with the enemy when Stoneman made his raid to Salisbury to release the federal prisoners. These Seniors may have served in different companies. All the names furnished have been grouped in above list.

Farewell,

General Robert F. Hoke to His Command.

"SOLDIERS OF MY DIVISION:

"On the eve of a long, perhaps final separation, I desire to address to you the last sad words of parting.

"The fortunes of war have turned the scales against us. The proud banners which you have waved so gloriously on many a field are to be furled at last; but they are not disgraced. My comrades, your indomitable courage, your heroic fortitude, your patience under suffering have surrounded these with a halo which future years cannot dim. History will bear witness to your valor and succeeding generations will point with admiration to your grand struggle for constitutional freedom. Soldiers, your past is full of glory. Treasure it in your hearts. Remember each gory battlefield, each day of victory, each bleeding comrade. Think then of your future.

"Freedom's battle once begun,
Bequeathed from bleeding sire to son,
Though baffled oft, is ever won."

"You have yielded to overwhelming forces, not to superior valor; you are paroled prisoners, not slaves; the love of liberty which led you in the contest still burns as brightly in your hearts as ever, cherish it, nourish it, associate it with the history of the past. Transmit to your children, teach them the rights of freemen and teach them to maintain them; teach them that the proudest day in all your proud career was that on which you enlisted as a Southern soldier, entering that holy brotherhood whose ties are now sealed in the blood of your compatriots, who have fallen and whose history is covered with the brilliant records of the past four years.

"Soldiers amid the imperishable laurels that surmount your brows, no brighter leaf adorns you than your late connection with the Army of Northern Virginia. The star that shone with splendor over its oft repeated field of victory, over the two deadly struggles of Manassas Plains, Richmond, Chancellorsville and Fredericksburg has sent its rays and been reflected wherever true courage is admired and wherever freedom has a friend. The star has set in blood, but yet in glory. That army is now of the past. Its banners trail, but not with ignominy; no stain blots its escutcheon, no blood can tinge your face as you proudly announce that you have a part in the past history of the Army of Northern Virginia.

"My comrades, we have borne together the same hardships, we have braved the same dangers, we have rejoiced over the same victory; your trials and your patience have excited sympathy and admiration and I have borne willing witness to your bravery. It is with a heart full of grateful emotion for your service and ready obedience that I take leave of you.

"May the future of every one of you be as happy as your past career has been brilliant and no cloud ever dim the brightness of your fame. The past looms before me in its illuminating grandeur. Its memories are a part of the past life of each one of you; but it is all now over. The sad, dark veil of defeat is between us and a life time of sorrow is our only heritage.

"You carry to your home the heartfelt wishes of your General for your prosperity.

"My command, farewell !

"R. F. HOKE,

"Major-General.
